Each school system is encouraged to share the Governor's School information and applications with strong students who meet the criteria listed below. Nominations for the Tennessee Governor's Schools must be made by high school counselors or principals. Each Governor's School convenes a review/selection committee which will select the students invited to attend each school.

Submitting the Application:

Completed applications should be mailed by the school counselor to the respective Governor's School(s). Applications submitted directly by students will not be accepted. The student may keep a copy of the application, excluding the confidential teacher's reference forms and the confidential school counselor's recommendation form; the school counselor should keep one complete copy of the submitted application package.

Application Submission Instructions

1. Ensure applications are complete, arranged in the correct order, and contain all required signatures and documents as outlined below.
2. School counselors must submit applications with a postmark no later than the deadline(s) listed on page two of each application.

4. Class rank, class size, numerical test scores, etc., must be provided by the counselor, if available. Please note that while PSAT, SAT, and ACT scores are not mandatory, school counselors are strongly encouraged to include this information if available.
5. Students are to list two teachers (see school-specific list) to complete the confidential teacher reference forms. The school counselor will need to obtain the completed forms from the respective teachers. There is a space available at the bottom of the teacher reference form to put the name of the school counselor to whom the form is to be returned.
6. An official transcript must be included in the application packet.

Additional guidance on completing the required forms can be found on page 2 of the application packet, "Application Checklist."

Governor's School for the Humanities
University of Tennessee at Martin
June 4 – July 1, 2017

Building on the program's rich tradition as Tennessee's first Governor's School, the 2017 Governor's School for the Humanities (GSH) will offer students the opportunity to earn six semester credit hours from University of Tennessee at Martin. While the exact schedule of courses has not been finalized, past offerings have traditionally focused on visual art, English, history, music, philosophy, and political science. The academic program, which will feature a lineup of award-winning university professors, will be augmented by a variety of co-curricular activities in areas such as graphic design, journalism, and ethics. The faculty and staff look forward to once again providing an unmatched intellectual experience on one of Tennessee's most beautiful and supportive campuses. As with any humanities program in which university credit is offered, students should expect rigorous reading and writing loads.

Prerequisites: Applicants should have excellent records in English classes and be able to demonstrate advanced experience in creative writing and literary analysis. Rising juniors and seniors may apply (current high school sophomores and juniors), but strong preference will be given to rising seniors. Submissions of ACT and other standardized test scores are recommended in order to provide evidence of the student's likelihood of succeeding at the university level. Those students invited to attend will receive instructions on completing the UT Martin application process after accepting GSH invitations. University admission requirements include an official high school transcript (with a school seal and school official signature, received by GSH in a sealed envelope); parental and high school permissions to attend; and a minimum cumulative 3.0 GPA on a 4.0 scale.

Application deadline: Dec. 2, 2016
