

Restorative Justice Conferencing
Tennessee Department of Education
Office of Healthy, Safe and Supportive Schools
In partnership with STARS Nashville

On January 8, 2014, the U.S. Department of Education and U.S. Department of Justice issued guidance to assist schools in meeting their obligations under Federal law to administer student discipline without discriminating on the basis of race, color, or national origin in a dear colleague letter. Restorative practices have been proven effective in reducing misbehavior, bullying, violence and crime among students while improving the overall climate for learning.

In Restorative Justice Conferencing, administrators to learn how to facilitate restorative conferences. Introduction to Restorative Practices and Using Circles effectively that covers the basics of restorative practices and how to implement restorative practices through classroom circles is a prerequisite for Restorative Justice: Conferencing.

Books are provided for trainers to attend. To purchase books for additional staff no in the training, the cost is $85.00.

Presenters

STARS Nashville staff are certified trainers in Restorative Practices from the International Institute for Restorative Practices and currently serves as school climate and safety consultants for the department's Safe and Supportive Schools Demonstration grant. They also provide training specifically in empowering youth student leaders to become part of the solution to end bullying and harassment in their schools and communities through MOVE2STAND.
