

Bio of Luvenia Harrison Butler, TGEI Class of 2003

Luvenia Harrison Butler is the Compliance Officer for the Tennessee Department of Health, Office of Compliance; she directs all Title VI and non-discrimination compliance. Luvenia formerly worked with the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation, where she served as Director, Tennessee Commission of Indian Affairs, and Project Manager for the construction of the National Civil Rights Museum that was built in Memphis, Tennessee.

Butler has a Master of Science Public Service Management degree from Cumberland University in Lebanon, Tennessee; and earned her Bachelor of Business Administration degree at Tennessee State University in Nashville. She has served on numerous community agency boards of directors such as Renewal House, Metro Social Services Commission, Metro Homelessness Commission, Young Leaders Council, Selective Service Board, to name a few; and is presently serving on the Board of The Neighborhood Compassion Center, Belle Meade Plantation, and the NECAT (Nashville Education Community & Art Television) Board.