Let's Review

Do you think Peter Rabbit will ever go back into Mr. McGregor's garden?

In "The Tale of Peter Rabbit" Peter Rabbit goes into Mr. McGregor's garden after being told to stay out of the garden by his mom because his dad was caught there and put into a pie by Mrs. McGregor. After all that happened to Peter in the garden, I do not think Peter will ever go back into Mr. McGregor's garden again.

Peter made himself sick to his stomach after eating a lot of Mr. McGregor's vegetables. When he went to go look for parsley, he ended being found by Mr. McGregor!

While being chased in the garden he lost his shoes in the vegetable plants and his jacket in the gooseberry net he became tangled up in. Peter was almost caught by Mr. McGregor several times. He was caught in the gooseberry net and nearly trapped in a sieve. Then he sneezed so loud while hiding in a flower-pot full of water Mr. McGregor chased him out of the tool-shed. He had no idea how to get out of the garden.

Once Peter did find his way out of the garden and back home, he was worn out. He ended up not feeling well and falling asleep on the floor. His mom put him to bed and gave him a dose of cannomile tea.

I do not think Peter will go back into Mr. McGregor's garden ever again. He came very close to ending up like his father, caught and put into a pie.

In "The Tale of Peter Rabbit" Peter Rabbit goes into Mr. McGregor's garden after being told to stay out of the garden by his mom because his dad was caught there and put into a pie by Mrs. McGregor. Peter did not listen to his mom and went into the garden anyway. As soon as he went into the garden bad things started to happen to Peter. After all that happened to Peter in the garden, in my opinion I do not think Peter will ever go back into Mr. McGregor's garden again.

One reason I do not think Peter will go into the garden is that Peter made himself sick to his stomach after eating a lot of Mr. McGregor's vegetables. When he went to go look for parsley, he ended being found by Mr. McGregor! Mr. McGregor was not happy to see him and he began chasing him with his rake and calling him a thief.

Secondly, while being chased in the garden he lost his shoes in the vegetable plants and his jacket in the gooseberry net he became tangled up in. Peter was almost caught by Mr. McGregor several times. He was caught in the gooseberry net and nearly trapped in a sieve. Then he sneezed so loudly while hiding in a flower-pot full of water Mr. McGregor chased him out of the tool-shed. All of this made Peter out of breath and trembling with fright. He was lost and had no idea how to get out of the garden.

Lastly, once Peter did find his way out of the garden and back home, he was worn out. He ended up not feeling well and falling asleep on the floor. His mom put him to bed and gave him a dose of cannomile tea. He even missed eating a yummy supper with his brothers of milk, bread, and blackberries.

All and all, I do not think Peter will go back into Mr. McGregor's garden ever again. He came very close to ending up like his father, caught and put into a pie. I think that Peter will realize that eating Mr. McGregor's vegetables was not worth the stomachache, being chased, feeling lost and afraid and almost caught by Mr. McGregor.
