

Kick off the new year with an urgent opportunity to advocate for early education!

Tennessee Department of Education Commissioner Penny Schwinn wants to hear from you as the state prepares to overhaul its education funding formula and explore possibilities for a more student-centered approach. With the public comment period closing soon after the new year, please join us on Jan. 6 as we host a virtual town hall with Commissioner Schwinn, who will share her insights on the Tennessee education funding review process as it relates to early education. Followed by her remarks, participants will have the opportunity to participate in breakout room discussions and submit feedback directly to TDOE.
