Upcoming Crime Online Class

A new class will be offered this summer focusing on using and generating reports with the Tennessee Crime Online Utility. This website is a very useful tool for agencies to monitor the quality of their data entry, as well as allows them to run their own reports on the variables that are important to them.

The class will cover the different portions of the website and how to use them. At the end of the class, attendees will understand how Crime Online is set-up and will be able to run their own agency reports, including reports that check for common errors in the data.

Class dates will be released soon. We are hoping to schedule one or two classes in August. If you have any questions or suggestions for the class, please contact Caitlin Orman (615-744-4136; Caitlin.Orman@tn.gov) or Kelsie Conrad (615-744-4016; Kelsie.Conrad@tn.gov).

Reminder About the Use of TIBRS Incident Report Forms

TBI does not require agencies to use the TIBRS form from the TBI website. Agencies can use any type of written report as long as they are getting all of the required information to enter TIBRS correctly. A TIBRS report is not required to be filled out with the in-house written report, again, as long as the report is capturing all the required data.
